Foreword

In preparing this yearbook, the authors have attempted to give you a picture of everyday life at Appomattox High School. Our hope is that this book portrays to you, the public, our varied school activities and that it will increase your already high regard for our Alma Mater.

We sincerely hope that this yearbook will ever be treasured, and that it will always recall pleasant memories of high school days. May the book be one of the corner stones of our future school editions and a monument to the "Traveler" Staff of 1952.

THE STAFF

DEDICATION

To you, our beloved mothers and fathers, who have guided us through the narrow paths of righteousness, and always upward toward our goals of success, we,
your sons and daughters, do humbly, but proudly,
dedicate this Tenth Volume of THE TRAVELER.

The Last Will And Testament

OF THE CLASS OF '52

Being of sound mind, I hereby will on this 8th day of February, in the year of our Lord, 1952, to the faculty and high school classes, the following possessions:

To Mr. Burke - A corps of teachers who are satisfied with their pay.

To Mr. Kerr - A perfect student body.

To Miss Harrison - Our appreciation for her tireless efforts on our behalf.

To Miss Holley - A Roman Holliday.

To Mrs. Orman - Continued popularity with the students at A.H.S.

To Miss Overstreet - A permanent position on the faculty of A.H.S.

To Miss Allen - A classroom equipped with all the latest business machines.

To Mrs. Taylor - A new Ford for a driver training car.

To Miss Mottley - A modern Home Economics cottage.

To Mrs. Brown and Mr. Bragg - A gymnasium equipped with winning teams.

To Miss Asher - Pupils who will not use the conference rooms in the library for gossip clubs.

To Mrs. Payne - A light, airy classroom, not in the basement.

To Mr. Hudson - More and better Chemistry students.

To Miss Davis - A well-prepared eighth grade.

To Mrs. Cheatham - A room full of Spanish students who really study.

To Mrs. Speir - A less varied schedule.

To Miss O'Brien - A pair of high heeled slippers, so that we will not mistake her for one of the students.

Mrs. Norfleet - More excuse blanks, so that she'll be able to fill the needs of all the students.

To Mrs. Webb - Months with more weekends.

To Mr. Pack - Bigger and better brooms to keep the shop clean.

To Mrs. Gilbert - The ability to keep her good disposition forever.

To Miss Kate Franklin - A modern music room without disturbances.

To Mr. Ashworth - A good wrench.

To the Grade Faculty - An elementary school, all their own, away from the interruptions of the high school.

To Thurman Arrington - A new book of jokes.

To Nina Barlow - A partnership in the Casco Ice Company.

To Fleetwood Blackwell - Just a little more time in which he can do a few more things first.

To Howard Blanks - More radio repair work to keep him happy.

To Kathryn Burkey - A life filled with music and happiness.

To Sylvia Burkes - The ability to master a Tennesseean accent.

To Doris Caldwell - The power to keep her pleasing personality.

To Dan Carson - More time in which to express his splendid ideas.

To Jo Ann Catlett - A Free airplane trip to California with an abundant supply of "Gordon's" potato chips.

To Edwin Cawthorne - The position as football coach in "Johnsonville."

To Hazel Cheatham - The best of luck throughout her life.

To Mary Alice Cheatham - The fulfillment of her ambitions to become a nurse.

To Bobby Chenault - The honor of being the second Bing Crosby.

To Agnes Christian - The right to become a secretary to the governor.

To Peggy Cole - A style shop to run competition with the Vogue.

To Sam Coleman - A pretty girl to go with his new Ford.

To Loretta Doss - A "Layne" cedar chest for her home in Spout Springs.

To Wade Drinkard - A new book of excuses.

To Mildred Ferguson - A position as a secretary in Gladys.

To Ann Franklin - Absolutely nothing, because her sweet smile and winning ways are all she needs.

To Lewis Garrett - An M.D. from the University of Virginia.

To Ann Goad - The ability to overcome obstacles that may lie in her path toward further education.

To Ida Belle Harvey - A happy life with a wealthy man.

To Joan Harvey - Continued joy in the field of education.

To Virginia Herndon - The power to remain as lovable as she is.

To Kendall Hunter - A jet plane so he'll be able to travel more rapidly.

To Bill Jamerson - A lunch counter all to himself.

To Billy Johnston - A glass eye that won't flirt.

To Faye Kestner - A year's supply of non-fattening candy.

To Jack Layne - The quotation, "In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love."

To Lucy Martin - A position at "Patterson's" Drug Store.

To Randolph Martin - The combined dignity of the Senior class.

To Doris Lee Moore - The honor of being the second Michel Angelo.

To Sue Moore - More time to be with Charlie.

To Mary Ellen Moore - A happy home on "Marshall's" farm.

To Martha Nash - More friends to add to the host that she has.

To Leon Paulette - The book "How to Win girls."

To Waverly Payne - The privilege of asking more questions.

To Billy Perdue - A life of happiness, that the twinkle may never leave his eye.

To Lois Notestein - A new home, all her own, in Evergreen.

To Virginia Ragland - A "Long" life, filled with happiness.

To Mary Ellen Ramsey - A home in which to make "Johnny" Cakes.

To Roy Sharp - A "McCormick" reaper.

To Rosa Shupe - A "Hudson" in the future.

To Moses Smith - A "Shirley Temple" doll and a home on "Reynolds" Street.

To Peggy Smith - A special rate on stamps and telephone calls to Norfolk.

To Mildred Smoot - A happy home in Clifton Forge.

To Earlene Stinson - A never-dying smile.

To Calvin Tanner - A pamphlet entitled "How to Impress Stella."

To Jean Taylor - The song, "Stay as Sweet As You Are."

To Ann Thomas - Another ring to go with the one she already has.

To Beatrice Totty - A ticket on the USS INGRAHAM.

To Shirley Walton - A baby grand Steinway, "The instrument of the immortals."

To Fred Weakley - A "Franklin" watch, so he'll be able to get to Ann's on time.

To Daphine Wells - A "Wood" home on Park Avenue.

To David Wood - An ideal position for himself.

To Mary Woods - Whatever she most desires.

The History of The 1952 Graduates

It was September, 1948, and the desert was no longer a desolate region, for amid the shouting and laughter, fifty-eight travelers were climbing on camels for the first lap of a four year journey across the Desert of Learning. We looked forward to reaching, at the end of the oasis, Graduation. Sheik Peters, the most famous person in the desert country, gave us the word to move on. The camel-drivers started their camels, and, slowly but surely, our caravan started across the wind-blown, sun-dried earth.

We traveled along for nine months under the leadership of Sheik Peters and camel-drivers, Gilbert, Taylor, and Cheatham. From water hole to water hole, we urged our camels on under the blazing sun.

Our caravan often had minor troubles, such as the intense heat of Literature, the sand storms of Tests, the shortage of Water of Wisdom, and the lack of supplies of Information. With the aid of our able Sheik and leaders, we finally reached the Sophomore Oasis.

After our three-month vacation, a new Sheik appeared to guide us on our journey; Sheik Peters had left us at the Sophomore Oasis. With new hope and brighter ideals, our caravan started out under the leadership of camel-drivers, Taylor, Allen, and Cheatham.

When we saw the beautiful oasis of Graduation, we realized how hard the trip was going to be. After our leaders convinced us it was only a mirage, our spirits dropped to the lowest ebb, but finally we reached the Junior Oasis in the spring.

The third summer moon waned, and once more our caravan moved over the Desert of Learning. Realizing the next oasis was Graduation, our tribe traveled with greater zest and spirit, with Morris and Holley as our camel-drivers.

The fourth lap was the most difficult one. With our camel-drivers, Gilbert and Brown, and Sheik Kerr, we finally got our bearings. Over the many dunes of Study and pitfalls of Exams, our camels trudged wearily onward. On a high dune Sheik Kerr and our camel drivers pointed out to us our last Oasis, that of Graduation. Before reaching our goal, we stopped at a waterhole, where we were entertained by our sister travelers, the Junior Caravan.

On, on, and on we went, getting burned by the hot sand, blinded by the rushing wind, and blistered by the heat of the sun. At last a banner indicated that we were nearing the last oasis. After the rush of activities to prepare for Graduation, most of us were ready. At a call from our camel-drivers, we marched to the center of the Graduation Oasis, where we received our diplomas from Sheik Kerr.

Still the wind blows, the sun blazes, and sands of time shift the fortunes of the enthusiastic travelers.

MONOGRAM CLUB

One of the most active clubs of the school is the Monogram Club, which is sponsored by Mrs. Brown and Mr. Bragg, our physical education directors.

The purpose of the Monogram club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, a greater interest in the sports and the Physical Education Department of the school.

The members of the club are those students who have earned a letter by participating in one or more of the sports of the school.

In recognition of his services, the club presents each senior with the school monogram and stripes for each year he has made a letter. These are presented at the annual club banquet for the seniors.

The Monogram Club sponsors various activities to provide the funds for this project.
